Synopsis: Photographer Frank Hurley's personal diaries of Sir Ernest Shackleton's epic story of Antarctic survival. Buttressing Hurley's account and incorporated seamlessly into his diary are the notes of second-in-command Frank Wild, motor export/storekeeper Thomas Orde-Lees, physicist Reginad James, sailors Lionel Greenstreet, Walter How and Harry McNish. This electronic book also includes Frank Worsley's verbatim James Caird journal and is considered the most comprehensive account of the Endurance expedition every published.
